

Carole Townsel is employed as an auditor with the State of Michigan Department of Treasury. Employed with the State of Michigan since 1996, Carole has worked in the capacities as Accounting Assistant and Office Supervisor for Corrections.

Degrees include an Associate in Business Administration from Muskegon Community College, as well as a Bachelor and Master of Business Administration with an emphasis in Accounting via University of Phoenix.

Carole considers her main accomplishments: 1) having raised an exemplary daughter, 2) obtaining her MBA with an emphasis in Accounting, and 3) the desire and ability to pursue new goals.

The key to Carole's stamina is to never give up. Many people are fortunate to have things fall into place. During her lifetime, Carole has had to give more, try more, and keep on going when she felt like quitting. Though life has dealt some blows that seemed unbearable at the time, Carole's favorite phrase is from Maya Angelou, "AND STILL I RISE."
